SCOPE OF WORK

Project Overview

The LBJ Combined ED/MRI/ICU Project entails the construction of a new Three Story, 32,582 sq ft LBJ ED/MRI/ICU facility with an Emergency Department and main lobby on first level, an intensive care unit on the second level, and a mechanical space on the third level. Situated along the main Hospital Road; the facility serves as a vital component of the LBJ Tropical Medical Center campus, facilitating ED, MRI, and ICU services.

The scope of work encompasses not only the construction of the main facility but also site improvements to ensure seamless integration with existing infrastructure and efficient functionality. These enhancements aim to enhance the overall efficiency, reliability, and sustainability of the LBJ Tropical Medical Center, providing a robust foundation for delivering quality healthcare services to the community.

Governing Codes

The scope of work encompasses adherence to a comprehensive set of codes and standards, ensuring compliance with industry regulations and guidelines. This includes the implementation of the 2018 International Building Code (IBC), International Mechanical Code (IMC), and International Plumbing Code (IPC), International Electrical Code (ICE) and all other applicable codes for the proper construction of this ED/MRI/ICU Facility.

Additional codes include:

- Compliance with 2018 IFC and IECC for safety and energy efficiency.
- Electrical installations follow 2017 NEC guidelines.
- Accessibility standards adhere to 2010 ADA Standards.
- Adherence to 2018 NFPA codes ensures comprehensive fire protection measures.
- These codes and standards collectively establish the framework for project safety, functionality, and regulatory compliance.

Foundation Components

The foundation works for the 3-Story ER/ICU Hospital Building require specialized tasks to ensure the stability and structural integrity of the facility. This includes the procurement and installation of deep foundation piles, designed to penetrate over 100 feet into the soil to achieve the required load-bearing capacity and mitigate settlement risks. The foundation system was engineered to address the specific geotechnical conditions of the site, ensuring compliance with all applicable building codes and healthcare standards.

Piling operations will involve the use of high-capacity driven piles, installed with precision to support the load requirements of the hospital structure. Pile caps and grade beams will be constructed to distribute loads evenly from the superstructure to the deep foundation system. Vibration monitoring and noise control measures shall be implemented during piling to minimize disruption to surrounding areas.

The scope also includes site preparation, such as clearing and excavation, followed by detailed surveying to confirm pile locations and alignment. Rigorous quality control measures, including integrity testing, load testing, and soil assessments, will ensure compliance with design specifications and structural performance criteria.

In addition to supporting the main structure, provisions will be made for accommodating utility trenches, elevator pits, and other below-grade components that integrate with the foundation system.

The completed foundation works will provide a robust and durable base, meeting the stringent safety and operational requirements of the ED/MRI/ICU hospital facility.

Structural Components

The project encompasses the construction of critical structural elements for the new three-story building and equipment. The contractor must construct a complex sub-foundation system, including driven piles, to provide a stable base for the building's foundations. This is essential to ensure the structural integrity and stability of the building, as well as to prevent settlement and potential damage to the surrounding soil.

In addition to the sub-foundation, the contractor will construct concrete foundations, erecting retaining walls to prevent soil erosion and offer structural reinforcement. Reinforced concrete floor slabs will also be installed to ensure structural integrity and durability. Load-bearing masonry walls must be meticulously constructed to ensure structural stability and adherence to building codes and standards, guaranteeing safety and compliance.

Fabrication and installation of structural steel columns and beams are essential to support the building's framework and distribute loads effectively, requiring precise alignment and connection to withstand anticipated loads and environmental conditions. Metal decking installation is imperative to form the structural base for the building's floors and roof, necessitating secure fastening to steel framing and coordination with other trades to ensure compatibility and integration with mechanical, electrical, and plumbing systems. The contractor must carefully plan and execute the construction of this system to ensure the long-term stability and functionality of the central plant building.

Architectural Components

The project entails a series of tasks for various architectural components within the 3-story ER/ICU hospital building. The contractor is required to furnish and install all materials, labor, equipment, and necessary resources to execute the work as per the finalized design.

A standout feature of the building is the curved Kalwall Canopy roof, which spans the entirety of the structure. The contractor is to ensure the accurate fabrication and installation of this unique roofing system, delivering exceptional natural daylighting and weather protection. The curved design must be executed with precision to integrate seamlessly with the structural framework and meet the project's aesthetic and functional goals.

The contractor is required to install insulated wall metal panels to provide thermal insulation and weather protection. These panels must be securely attached to the structural framework with precise alignment, ensuring compliance with healthcare facility standards for durability and energy efficiency. They must also furnish and install 6' wide concrete-filled metal pan stairs to the upper floors. These stairs must comply with building codes and healthcare accessibility standards, ensuring safe and efficient vertical circulation for patients, staff, and visitors.

Maintaining fire separation is a critical component of the project, requiring the use of UL-approved fire-rated assemblies and ensuring meticulous detailing of through-penetrations on all floors. This includes the integration of fire-rated walls, doors, and barriers to effectively contain and prevent the spread of fire in designated areas. Fireproof doors must also meet stringent Emergency Department (ED) and Intensive Care Unit (ICU) medical requirements, including durability, accessibility, and infection control standards to ensure the safety and functionality needed for healthcare operations.

The application of thermal insulation to walls and the Kalwall roof is necessary to enhance energy efficiency and occupant comfort, using non-toxic, fire-resistant, and antimicrobial materials tailored for a hospital environment.

The contractor must furnish and install hollow metal doors and frames for interior and exterior entrances, including ED treatment rooms, ICU isolation rooms, and MEP access areas. Doors must be fireproof, complying with both fire-rating standards and medical requirements for ED, MRI, and ICU spaces to ensure they meet safety, hygiene, and operational needs.

The curved Kalwall Canopy roof will require careful coordination and craftsmanship, ensuring it delivers a durable and weather-resistant solution while enhancing daylighting within the building. The contractor is responsible for adhering to all design specifications, building codes, and project standards and must coordinate closely with the project management team to ensure timely completion and high-quality results.

Mechanical, Electrical, and Plumbing Components

The mechanical, electrical, and plumbing components of the 3-Story ED/MRI/ICU Hospital Building will focus on tasks that complement the Central Plant infrastructure. This includes the integration and commissioning of the building's HVAC systems to maintain precise temperature, humidity, and air pressure control, critical for patient care and infection prevention. Air handling units (AHUs), ductwork, and terminal units will be installed to ensure proper airflow throughout the facility, utilizing chilled water and steam supplied by the Central Plant.

Medical gas systems, including oxygen, nitrogen, and vacuum systems, will be supplied and commissioned to meet ICU, MRI, and ED-specific needs. Plumbing fixtures will be installed for restrooms, utility areas, and hand-washing stations in compliance with healthcare standards. Provisions for reverse osmosis (RO) water systems and sterilization equipment connections will also be made.

The hospital's electrical systems will be configured to accommodate power supplied from the Central Plant, with transformers and distribution panels installed to step down power for building-specific needs. Emergency backup generator capacity will be supplemented to ensure critical care areas have redundant power, integrated with the Central Plant's emergency systems.

Low-voltage systems, such as fire alarms, nurse call systems, security systems, and IT infrastructure, will be installed and seamlessly integrated with hospital-wide systems. Testing, commissioning, and training will ensure all systems meet operational and safety requirements while fully utilizing the resources of the Central Plant.

Hospital Operations

Throughout the construction period, the LBJ Tropical Medical Center, operating as a fully functional medical facility, is mandated to remain operational continuously, including holidays. Ensuring uninterrupted access, exit routes within the hospital premises must be maintained clear at all times. Additionally, temporary signage indicating alternate exit routes during construction is to be implemented, subject to approval by both the Owner's Representative and the LBJ Engineering Team, further safeguarding the safety and accessibility of the facility.

Temporary Conditions

During temporary conditions, coordination is essential to facilitate construction activities smoothly. This involves collaborating with the Owner's Representative and LBJ Engineering Team to determine the placement of temporary construction facilities, including shelters for accessing and exiting adjacent wards. Furthermore, coordination with the LBJ Engineering Team is necessary to designate parking areas and exterior laydown storage spaces. All storage of materials and equipment must adhere to the regulations outlined in Chapter 33 of the 2018 IBC, ensuring compliance and prioritizing the safety of the public, workers, and neighboring property throughout the construction process.

Coordination of Work

Effective coordination of work is paramount to the success of the project. Requests for Information (RFIs) must be submitted for any notes necessitating written notification to the architect. Before commencing work, it is imperative to review and verify all existing conditions, promptly notifying the architect of any discrepancies encountered. No alterations to structural members or components are permitted without prior written approval from the structural engineer, with all requests documented to the architect. Furthermore, coordination among trades is essential to ensure seamless progress, and plumbing, mechanical, and electrical drawings must be coordinated for necessary openings and penetrations, with discrepancies reported to the architect before proceeding. Additionally, verifying all rough-in dimensions and service connection requirements in collaboration with the architect is crucial. Utility shut-offs must be coordinated with the LBJ Engineering Team at least 48 hours in advance, and prior to demolition, underground utilities in the work area must be located and identified at grade, with any discrepancies reported to the architect before work commences. This meticulous coordination ensures efficiency, safety, and adherence to project specifications.

Deferred Submittals

The scope of work includes fire protection, which requires sealed shop drawings reviewed and signed off by an individual having a minimum of a NICET 3 certification in fire protection engineering technology, subfield of fire alarm systems.

Demolition Work

Before initiating demolition, it is essential for the owner to remove and relocate materials stored within the designated work limits. Additionally, prior to commencing demolition activities, the contractor must conduct a site walk with the owner to verify site conditions, ensuring thorough preparation and safety measures are in place.

Drawings & Specifications

The drawings and specifications detail the entire scope of work for this project. The Contractor is responsible for fully understanding these documents and accounting for all details in its proposal.

As-Built Drawings

As-built drawing is required detailing all actual construction of the Project inclusive everything from building layout, utilities and interconnections to existing, and elevations with coordinates. As-built will be submitted in hardcopy with professional seal and an electronic copy in PDF format and AutoCad 2023 version or better.
